

Daniel Webber

Legal translator

E-mail: info@lexgraeca.com

Curriculum Vitae

Daniel Webber is a translation practitioner who has been offering his services to a diverse clientele including law firms, notaries public, companies and language service providers in Greece, the UK and other countries since 2001. With a wide range of translating interests, including the translation of several books in various fields such as medicine and classical studies, he has been devoting his energies to specialising in legal translation since 2011 through rigorous study and research.

Together they founded the publishing firm Lex Graeca to provide translations of Greece's codes and other key legislation.