

Prof. Keisuke KASUYA

E-mail: cs00190@srv.cc.hit-u.ac.jp

Curriculum vitae

Keisuke KASUYA is Professor of Sociolinguistics at the Graduate School of Language and Society in Hitotsubashi University (Tokyo).

His research interests include the macro-sociolinguistics, the discourse analysis of linguistic representation, and the comparative study of linguistic ideologies. He co-edited Language, State and Power (1997) and What is Linguistic Imperialism? (2000)(both in Japanese).

Among his publications are “Discourses of Linguistic Dominance: A Historical Consideration of French Language Ideology” (International Review of Education, Vol.47, Nos.3-4, July 2001) and “L'Hégémonie linguistique ---- pouvoir organisateur du «consentement spontané»”(Impérialismes linguistiques ---- hiers et aujourd'hui, sous la direction de Louis-Jean Calvet et Pascal Griolet, INALCO/Edisud, 2005).