

EAFTELETO Symposium

“National Languages and Terminology in Higher Education, Science & Technology”

Athens, Greece, 7 November 2013

Delyth Prys

d.prys@bangor.ac.uk

Delyth Prys is Chief Editor of the Centre for the Standardization of Welsh Terminology at Bangor University, Wales, since 1993 and Head of the Language Technologies Unit there since 2001.

She is a member of the BSI (British Standards Institute) Terminology Committee and also of the ISO (International Standards Organisation) Technical Committee for Terminology and other Language Resources. She is convener of the Socioterminology Group of that Committee.

Her current projects at the Language Technologies Unit include two for Y Coleg Cymraeg Cenedlaethol (the National Welsh-medium College), namely the Standardization of Welsh Terminology for Welsh-Medium Education at Universities in Wales, and the Digitization, E-publishing and Electronic Corpus project, which publishes out of print scholarly books in e-format while simultaneously using them to build up a major research corpus of academic Welsh.